The image features a highly detailed architectural entrance. It consists of a large, arched doorway framed by a wide, decorative stone archway. The archway is adorned with intricate carvings of floral and scrollwork patterns. The doorway itself is filled with a complex, dark-colored wrought-iron grille. This grille has a repeating pattern of scrolls and floral motifs, with small circular medallions at the top of each vertical section. In the foreground, a matching wrought-iron railing with a similar scrollwork design runs across the width of the image. The overall aesthetic is classical and elegant, suggesting a grand or historic building. The text 'ESPACIOS PARA EVENTOS' is centered over the middle of the image, with a thin vertical line passing through it.

A dark, monochromatic photograph of a Gothic-style vaulted ceiling. The image is centered on a decorative capital, a carved stone element that supports the ribs of the vault. The capital has a fluted, shell-like base. Above it, the ribs of the vault curve upwards and outwards, creating a series of concentric arches. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the textures and curves of the stone. In the lower center, a small, ornate lantern hangs from a chain. On the left side, there is some faint, illegible text that appears to be a date or reference number, possibly '31 04.93'.
